CHEF BIO

Chris Mcleay
Chef de Cuisine
Garden Kitchen & Bar

Since starting his career 20-years ago with an apprenticeship at the Gold Coast's Hyatt Sanctuary Cove, Chris Mcleay has found himself situated across the world learning from the best in the business. Now returning to where it all began, he has taken up Chef de Cuisine at The Star's Garden Kitchen & Bar.

Chris has led kitchens across the world in countries such as England, Switzerland, Dubai and Canada, where he mastered an array of cuisines and culinary techniques.

With more highlights than he can count, Chris recalls two career milestones that will stay with him forever, one - cooking for Queen Elizabeth as an apprentice and two – cooking for the head of states for the Commonwealth.

Throughout his time in Switzerland, Chris worked at a prestigious hotel in Gstaad, catering to famous clientele – with the hotel tipped as the place to be seen for movie and sports stars alike. To ensure only the best food was served to guest, Chris set the standard for all meals prepared.

Heading back to where it all began 5 years ago, Chris joined The Star, Gold Coast, and has held the roles of Sous chef and Chef de Cuisine at Cucina Vivo. For the last two years he has headed up the kitchen and set the menu at Garden Kitchen & Bar.

Since opening their doors in 2016, Garden Kitchen & Bar has received multiple awards for its offering, including the best restaurant in a hotel / resort/ casino nationally at the 2019 Savour Australia Restaurant and Catering awards.

Launching a new menu in time for Summer, Chris gives a sneak peek at his favourite dishes.

1. Hand Crafter Burrata

The burrata is a cow's milk soft cheese made in a similar fashion to mozzarella. The creaminess texture once it is cracked with a spoon is divine. The savoury granola adds a salty, crunchy component to the dish, and is a play on cheese and biscuits. The granola has around 10 components including panko bread crumbs, kale, celeriac, fried onion, raisins, turnip, almonds, parsley, salt and oats. These are all fried or roasted, and together make the perfect grazing snack!

2. Mary Hill Lamb Shoulder Croquettes

Mary Hill is a local lamb producer based in Northern NSW, that we have had a great relationship with since the inception of Garden Kitchen and Bar. The owner, Peter Strelitz has some of the best lamb products in Australia, and we use his lamb shoulder on rotisserie also. The croquettes form apart of the new bar menu offering and consist of the slow cooked lamb shoulder, that we pull apart and set with lamb jus. We then cut into cubes, crumb and lightly fry. What you end up with is a beautiful little parcel of pure rich lamb – self saucing – and paired with our roma tomato relish which is slightly sweet and offers the perfect balance to the lamb.
